

Greg Wallace - Planning & Zoning Administrator - Retires After 22 Years of Service.

After serving the community for over 22 years, Greg Wallace officially retired on April 22, 2016. It's not uncommon for employees in small communities to wear many "hats" and help out in various roles as needed. However, Mr. Wallace was such an asset to the community and staff over the years that he probably wore as many "hats" in his tenure as the number of years of service. Here is just a brief list of the many jobs that Mr. Wallace has held over the years: Fire Chief, Planning & Zoning Administrator, Code Enforcement Officer, Interim City Manager, Interim Safety Director, Interim Police Chief, Interim Service Director, Snow Plow Driver, Court Bailiff, IT and Telecommunications Support, Festival Emcee, and Grant Writer.

"Mr. Wallace is a dedicated public servant to the citizens of Carlisle, and his expertise and knowledge will be missed" said Village Manager Sherry Callahan. It is exceptionally difficult to replace the level of knowledge that Mr. Wallace held. He was heavily involved in shaping Carlisle into what it is today. During his tenure, Mr. Wallace played critical roles in many of the basic services that we use today including the public sewer system, public water systems and road improvements—such as the widening of SR123. Mr. Wallace was instrumental in acquiring grants for new playground equipment, road resurfacing, waste tire disposal, and handicap accessibility at Town Hall.

Although retirement traditionally means taking some well deserved time to travel, volunteer, or work on hobbies, Mr. Wallace will begin his retirement years as the Executive Director of the Montgomery County Fair. Village Council and staff wish him the best of luck in his new endeavor.

Mayor Winkler presented a special proclamation to Greg Wallace to honor his years of service.
